

HYDROGEN THERAPY

FUNCTIONING AND EQUIPMENT

What is hydrogen therapy?

Hydrogen therapy is the latest trend from Japan and America. This innovative treatment method introduces pure hydrogen into the body through inhalation via the nose. Hydrogen detoxifies the body by neutralising harmful substances and boosts ATP (energy) production. Treatment with hydrogen therapy has been shown to be a safe and effective method in over 1,500 studies covering 170 medical conditions. Research has demonstrated that shortly after inhaling hydrogen, many body functions become more balanced.

The immune system improves, people feel more energised, and the mind feels clearer. Sleep also improves, and symptoms of depression lessen. Hydrogen has a variety of applications. Hydrogen therapy boosts energy levels, reduces ageing, decreases chronic inflammation, and improves metabolism and digestion. It reduces Candida overgrowth in the intestines and even helps with stubborn conditions such as Lyme disease, Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, and diabetes.

Water versus hydrogen

Water is a liquid gas in which hydrogen (H_2) and oxygen (O) molecules are bound together. What a hydrogen generator does is split the hydrogen molecules from the oxygen molecules, giving you two separate elements: hydrogen and oxygen.

Oh so small, yet oh so powerful

Fun fact: a hydrogen molecule is the smallest molecule on earth. But just like the other smallest particle on earth — the (bio)photon — it has a huge influence on life. Your body cannot function without (bio)photons and hydrogen. The colourless and odourless hydrogen gas is naturally produced by bacteria in your intestines. But this is where things go wrong in modern society. Only fibre-rich food feeds the bacteria that can produce hydrogen. Modern Western diets are almost stripped of fibre and full of refined carbohydrates. As a result, our gut flora has completely changed! 80% of the hydrogen-producing bacteria have disappeared, leading to a chronic hydrogen deficiency throughout the entire body. Regularly replenishing this shortage is made possible with our hydrogen generators and will improve your health.

Antioxidant?

From the many published studies and possible applications of hydrogen (gas), it appears that hydrogen neutralises free radicals (toxins) and in doing so, protects the body's cells and vital organs. The hydrogen molecules work selectively and do not affect valuable oxidants; they only bind to aggressive (harmful) oxidants. In addition to being a powerful antioxidant, hydrogen also boosts the ATP production of every cell in the body. ATP is the fuel used by each body cell, produced from glucose (blood sugar).

Side effects?

Unlike other highly effective antioxidants, hydrogen does not leave behind oxidised substances that need to be eliminated. Instead, it converts harmful substances into water. This takes the strain off your detoxification systems, such as the liver and kidneys, and is a great support to the body. This is why hydrogen therapy has no unwanted side effects.

SMALL

Molecular hydrogen (H₂) is the smallest molecule in existence, making it smaller than ALL other antioxidants. This allows hydrogen to travel freely throughout your body, offering rapid protection against free radicals.

SELECTIVE

Hydrogen targets ONLY harmful free radicals, avoiding those used by your cells for communication. Other antioxidants eliminate ALL free radicals, which can disrupt the natural balance within your cells.

SAFE

Hydrogen is completely safe. Any excess is naturally expelled from the body without causing buildup or overdose—an extremely valuable trait in an antioxidant, especially when you want to take an extra dose after a stressful day.

SYNERGY

Hydrogen not only neutralizes free radicals on its own but also enhances your cells' natural antioxidant defence systems. This synergy provides comprehensive protection against harmful free radicals throughout the day.
